CALLED ON CARLISLE.

The Aid of the Astute Secretary of the Treasury

INVOKED ON THE SILVER QUESTION.

All Parties Seemingly Convinced That Some Sort of a Compromise Must be Agreed Upon—Mr. Carlisle Unyielding.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Senators Gorman, Ransom, White, Cockrell, Vilas, Gray, Walthall and Blackburn, the committee appointed to wait on Secretary Carlisle and submit to him propositions looking to a compromise, remained in executive session with him at the treasury from 3 o'clock until 4:30. Mr. Gorman was the first to leave.

Mr. Carlisle was seen after his senatorial visitors had departed and stated that he had nothing whatever to communicate as to the nature of their call or its result. The visiting senators and ambassadors returned to the capitol in straggling order, some of them first calling at the White House. Senators Camden, Harris and Jones, of Arkansas, subsequently held a long consultation with Mr. Cockrell.

So far as could be ascertained nothing definite had been accomplished. Mr. Carlisle, it is said, was unyielding in the original stand taken by him in favor of unconditional repeal. No compromise was agreed upon last night, but it was intimated that another conference would be held this morning. The belief exists in the minds of the caucus committee that the administration will concede a repeal, to take effect at a future date, and that was one of the contentions discussed for some time.

The repeal men want the time fixed for January, or at the latest July 1, 1895, while the more conservative silver men want it to extend to January 1, 1900, as fixed in Mr. Quay's proposed amendment.

The extremists insist that repeal shall not take effect until after the close of this administration, the amount of silver purchases being reduced in the meantime to $2,000,000 worth each month

A representative southern silver senator said last evening, after the committee returned, that if they could get nothing better they would accept July 1, 1896, but pointed out that this was bad politics The statement had been made, he said, that the administration would favor silver legislation if this bill had been repealed and democratic repealers had expressed their intention to assist in enacting such legislation With the acceptance of a compromise the agitation would not end. He thought that within five days after the passage of this bill two score of financial measures would be introduced, and before spring congress would be in the midst of a discussion of the subject that would be continued till the next elections, all the time increasing the intolerable attending its settlement, and bringing about a condition hazardous to the democratic party. This was why, he said, the southern men wanted the question postponed to a later date in the repealing bill, so there would be no occasion to agitate the subject until after the elections, the people in the meatime having voiced their sentiments at the polls The southern silver men, the senator said, would fight, accepting the compromise as a temporary lull in the storm, expecting democratic senators to put themselves on record to carry out their sentiments when the time came.

The silver republicans speaking through one of their leaders said they would in all probability accept the compromise to the extent of permitting it to come to a vote, even if they could not support it.

The repeal republicans adhered to their former position of being ready to vote for unconditional repeal, and declined to state their views upon any compromise so long as it was an intangible thing. "If the democrats came together and agreed among themselves," said one of the eastern republicans, a senator known for his political astuteness, "they could pass the bill without the assistance of the republicans."

THE MATABELE WAR.

Rider Haggard, the Novelist, on the Situation in South Africa.

LONDON, Oct 20—Rider Haggard, the novelist and South African traveller said to-day in speaking of the war with the Matabele:

"The fighting qualities of the Matabele have never been tested by a contact with a fighting race Their warfare consisted mainly of raids on inferior races. They are accustomed to the most brutal massacres. They kill men, women and infants for the distinction. They are so thoroughly savage that it is impossible for them to exist beside civilized people."

Mr. Haggard talked at length of the best methods of fighting South African tribes. He thought that the Fort Salisbury and Fort Victoria columns, now advancing upon the Metabele, ought to be supported by reserves who could be called to the front in cases of reverses

The recent South African wars, he said, had shown that the initial error of the British was to underrate the enemy. This mistake had been made, he said, in the Zulu war and the Boer campaign, and each time with disastrous consequences.

A DESPERATE RIOT

Between Striking Coal Miners and a Squad of Determined Police.

LONDON, Oct. 20—Two thousand striking miners attacked the Sutton Heath collieries at St. Helens, county of Lancashire, yesterday They drove away the mine officers, broke the machinery at the shafts and split up the wagons. When the police arrived the miners had armed themselves with wheel spokes, stones and pieces of broken machinery. The police charged, clubbing the men right and left. The mob surrounded them, stoned and beat them and finally drove them back, carrying with them three wounded. The police charged twice more before the strikers would yield. They caught ten of the men most conspicuous in leading the mob and locked them up at St Helens.

Four policemen and three miners were wounded severely and several more on either side received serious injuries.

Preparing for Hostile Visitors.

PARIS, Oct 20.—A dispatch to the Temps says that the Moors are at work night and day, digging trenches around Melilla They are also busily engaged in strengthening the heights dominating Fort Guariach, the attempted building of which on a site occupied by a Moorish saint's grave precipitated the attack upon the Spanish garison at Melilla. The natives, according to the correspondent of the Temps, are throwing up breastworks on the right bank of the River Ouror. In an interview yesterday Senor Canovas del Castillo blamed the government for its inaction in the face of the hostile attitude of the Moors

CHRISTIAN WOMEN.

An Enduring Monument to Their Pluck and Energy.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—At yesterday's sessions of the convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union the report on the Women's temple, concerning which a warm debate was expected, was received and adopted with very little opposition. It showed that the temple had been largely erected by the gifts of individuals, only 202 unions in the United States having contributed in excess of $100.

The revenue was now in the neighborhood of $150,000 a year. The Women's union already owned a controlling interest in the building, with the privilege of purchasing the rest of the stock. A plan was now on foot to raise $1,500,000 within two years to pay off the indebtedness.

At the afternoon session memorial services were held for the deceased members.

The night meeting was opened with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs L. Spencer, of Alabama Two-minute addresses were then made by the vice-president of each state and territory, over fifty such addresses being made in two hours.

Prepared to Reopen.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 20.—The Langham County savings bank has finally effected a reorganization. The bank reopen next Monday, after being closed five months. The capital has been doubled.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

The Legislative Day of Tuesday Ended at Last.

THE DAY'S JOURNAL BEING APPROVED,

But the Real Business of the Session Continues to Drag—The Bankruptcy Bill in the House —Other Matters.

SENATE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The legislative day of Tuesday last, which was carried over by a recess till Wednesday and again by another recess till to-day, was continued in the senate at 10 o'clock this morning There were then, however, scarcely a dozen members in the chamber, and when the roll was called only twenty-two members (just half a quorum) answered It was not until 10 30 that the forty-third senator put in an appearance and completed the number necessary to transact business

The vice-president began to lay before the senate certain house bills, but was interrupted by Mr Stewart, who made the point of order that no business was in order until the journal of Monday last was approved The ruling of the vice-president, however, was that it was in order to have the bills read and referred to committees, which was done—the New York bridge bill being one of those presented and referred.

A report from the finance committee was presented and read [It contains a communication from the treasury department in response to an inquiry for the expenditures and receipts of the government for the first three months of the fiscal year The report shows the deficit for the first three months over the estimated receipts to be over $31,000,000, or at the rate of $87,000,000 for the year It shows the actual expenditures to have been over $98,000,000 or an average of about $33,000,000 a month The expenditures for the year at the same rate would amount to about $392,000,000, or about $21,000,000 more than the estimated expenses, and would show an increase of expenditures over supposed actual receipts of a little over $97,000 000 A definite forecast of the whole year was impossible, but it was apparent that should the present conditions continue, the deficit at the end of the year would be about $50,000,000] The report was ordered printed

The question of approving the journal of Tuesday was then taken up and exhaustively debated after which Mr Teller's motion to amend the journal was withdrawn and the journal was approved

The repeal bill was, at 4 10 laid before the senate

Mr Manderson offered an amendment to the rules providing that when on a vote by yeas and nays it shall appear on recapitulation and before the announcement of the result, that a quorum has not voted, he shall call by name upon the senators present who have not voted to vote, and shall direct the secretary to add the names of the senators not voting, including those announcing pairs, or who may or may not have been excused from voting, on the journal

Mr Peffer addressed the senate in continuance of the speech began by him last week, but he did not finish it and at 5 p m, the senate took a recess until 10 a m to morrow

HOUSE

Mr Outhwaite, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution making the bankruptcy bill a continuing special order for next Monday—the bill to be considered in the house in committee of the whole, as the rules of the house may determine

There was some objection made to the latter part of the resolution, and Mr Outhwaite modified it so as to provide that the bill should be considered in committee of the whole

The resolution, as modified, was agreed to

Mr Myers, from the committee on naval affairs reported a joint resolution for the appointment of a joint committee to reorganize the personnel of the naval calendar

In the consideration morning hour a bill was passed granting certain lands to the territory of Arizona

Mr Wheeler, from the committee on territories, called up a bill requiring land grant railways to maintain stations at town sites established by the interior department in the territories

Mr Flynn while not objecting to the bill, entered upon a criticism of the interior department, and said that this bill was an effort on the part of the department to get out of investigation, which he had asked at the hands of congress

Mr Simpson thought that the bill was a good one and ought to pass without a single objection

The morning hour expired before the measure was disposed of The house then resumed consideration of the printing bill

Without disposing of the bill the house suspended public business and proceeded to pay its tribute of respect to the memory of the late William Mutchler of Pennsylvania Eulogistic addresses were made by Messrs Reilly, C. W Stone, Breckinridge, Bingham, Springer, Dockery, Brosius, Wilson, Sayres, McAleer, Wolverton and Erdman, and then, as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, the house, at 3 45, adjourned

M'MAHON'S OBSEQUIES.

The Arrangements for the Funeral of the Distinguished Dead All Complete.

PARIS, Oct. 20—The arrangements for the funeral of Gen. McMahon have now been completed. According to the programme, the body will be conveyed in a hearse from the chateau, in which the general died, to the town church at Montieresson. A number of priests, senators, deputies and ministers will be in waiting and will receive the body at the church The coffin will be placed upon a bier draped with black velvet pall, trimmed with silver fringe, the tricolor of France and a field marshal's flag High mass will be celebrated and the Archbishop of Lyons will pronounce absolution

The interior of the church will be draped in black

The body will remain in the church until nightfall in order that visitors may take a last look at the illustrious dead. After dark it will be removed to a lateral chapel where it will remain until brought to Paris for interment in the Eglise des Invalides.

Count von Munster, German ambassador to France, yesterday sent a telegraphic message to Mme. McMahon stating that, as a token of deep sympathy, Emperor William had charged him to deposit a wreath upon the coffin of the noble field-marshal.

William Pettit Granted a New Trial.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 20.—The supreme court yesterday granted a new trial to William Pettit, the minister who was convicted in the Montgomery circuit court in 1889 of poisoning his wife, and who is now serving a life sentence in the northern penitentiary Pettit's wife died in July, 1889, and soon after the husband was arrested on the charge of poisoning her with strychnine, and a six weeks' trial resulted in his conviction. The state claimed that Pettit had become infatuated with a Mrs. Whitehead, a widow of means.

ALL PARTIES IRRITATED

Over the Franchise Bill Introduced in the Austrian Reichsrath.

VIENNA, Oct. 19.—A ministerial crisis seems inevitable. All parties are irritated over the franchise bill introduced on the 10th instant in the lower house of the reichsrath by Count Taafe, minister of the interior. Count Kalnoky, minister of foreign affairs and of the imperial house or the whole monarchy, and Count Taafe visited Emperor Francis Joseph Wednesday, and it is reported submitted their resignation to him. Zaleski and Steinbach and all the German members of the left reject the franchise bill and comment upon the government's action with indignation. On Monday the emperor received a deputation of Bohemian nobles who protested against the bill. The Poles will probably issue a protest to-day.

President Chlumecky of the lower house had an audience with Emperor Francis Joseph in Buda Pesth this evening and presented his resignation. His reason for wishing to retire is that the German liberals have placed him in an exceedingly difficult position since the introduction of the electoral reform bill.

The emperor refused to accept the resignation.

Count Taafe assured Chlumecky of his readiness to abandon the bill, and the emperor consented to a disolution of the reichsrath in the event that the coercion policy of Bohemia should be rejected.

The cabinet crisis is believed to have been averted for the present. Whether the suffrage bill has been amended permanently or only temporarily is not known.

Count Taafe and Count Kalnoky were with the emperor again last evening. The situation is critical.

THE RUSSIANS IN PARIS

Royally Entertained by the Municipal Authorities.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—The Russians were entertained by the municipal authorities at the town hall last evening. These authorities are socialists, but they did not hesitate to lavish every luxury upon the officers of the Russian navy. More than 200 deer were killed to supply the course of venison, and ninety-five waiters were kept busy serving the wines and dishes.

President Carnot presided, and among the 546 guests were all the members of his military household.

The table of honor had the form of a horseshoe. President Carnot sat in the place of honor, at his right Premier Dupuy and Baron Mohrenheim, at his left the prefect of the Seine and Admiral Avelan. Long curved lines of ministers, deputies and Russian officers stretched away on each side.

The middle table was reserved for Frenchmen of letters and art. Zeola, the novelist, Godcourt, historian, and Massenet, composer, were among the celebrated men gathered around it.

The usual toasts were given and answered with the usual cordality. Coffee was served in the Salle des Prevots, while a military band played.

THIS SETTLES IT.

Neither World's Fair Nor American Fair in Jackson Park Next Summer.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—There will be neither a World's fair or an American fair in Jackson park next summer. The exposition will not be prolonged another year. All doubt was settled about it last night at a meeting between the members of the demolition committee of the exposition and the South park board of commissioners They agreed that the fair should officially end October 30. The members of the South park board announced that they would insist upon the Exposition company carrying out the terms of its ordinance. These are that the park commissioners take charge of the grounds January 1, 1894. The directors are given until May of the same year to clear off the state and foreign buildings in the north end of the park and until May 1, 1895, to remove the main structures on the south end of the grounds. The Art gallery is the only structure likely to be left intact, and no decision as to this has been reached.

Herbert Spencer Not Seriously Ill.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—It having been reported that Herbert Spencer was seriously ill at Brighton, the representative of the United Press in London caused inquiries to be made at that place to ascertain the facts. It was learned that Mr. Spencer was at his London residence, 64 Avenue road, N. W., and inquiry there revealed that the report was a canard.

Mr. Spencer has been in feeble health for some time, and his condition to-day is no worse than usual.

An Erroneous Report.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—The reports that Gen. Blume would probably succeed Gen. Von Kaltenburn-Skatchen as minister provost, have been erroneous. The emperor yesterday appointed Gen. Brousa-Scheltendorff, a brother of a former minister of war, to the office. Gen. Von Kaltenburn-Skatchen will be given command of an army corps.

Attorney Tieman, Kays' counsel, says he is prepared to prove a complete alibi for Kays; that a dozen trustworthy people will testify that Kays was far away from the scene of the murder when it was committed.

Warden Patton of the penitentiary testified that he was holding the prisoners on an order from Judge Heffron.

Mr. Garstang, the company's superintendent of motive power, is of the opinion that few of the strikers will get their places back, as they are already filled. The men are more hopeful, however, and believe that now that hostilities have ceased the company will not be slow to take back the men who are familiar with the work required of them.

DAILY REPUBLICAN.

R. E. HAMSHER. | W. F. CALHOUN.
HAMSHER & CALHOUN, Prop'rs
DECATUR, ILLINOIS.

FRIDAY EVE., OCT. 20, 1893.

WITH old time Republican majorities in Iowa, Massachusetts and Ohio on the 7th day of November, business will begin to revive in a substantial way.

SENATORS SHERMAN and Hill, in less than 20 minutes talked more sense than can be found in the total number of drawn out speeches delivered in the senate this week in favor of silver.

THE Democrats in Massachusetts are complaining that the dead-lock in the senate is hurting them in their campaign. This is the first indication we have seen that anything good is growing out of the conduct of the senate.

SENATOR MORGAN says the eleven states that went out of the Union fought to preserve the constitution. It would be interesting to have his opinion as to what the other fellows fought for. And while he is about it he might tell us what makes him so certain that the states went out of the Union.

AMERICAN cotton was once king, but it has lost some of its imperial glory. Last year $43,000,000 pounds of foreign grown cotton was shipped to this country, which displaced that amount of home cotton; and that is the reason some of our free-trade cotton growers are asking for a tariff on imported cotton to protect them against the imported cotton.

IT is now thought the most probable compromise on the silver question in the senate will be to repeal the silver-purchase clause of the Sherman law, to take effect January 1, 1895, and to coin the seigniorage in the treasury. This would give the country one more year of the so-called "cowardly makeshift," and would put the question into next year's election of a congress.

A FREE silver Democrat, in the senate, charged the repeal senators with being owned and controlled by the president and that whenever the clock at the White House strikes the cuckoos put their heads out of the box and cuckooed. That may be true in Washington, but there are a great many people who voted the Democratic ticket last year, and who were always ready to cuckoo whenever a Democratic campaign orator declared that "the tariff is a tax" who are not cuckooing now.

ILLINOIS State Journal: Wayne MacVeagh is indignant. Mr. MacVeagh is one of those "I-am-holier-than-thou" politicians who has been distressing himself and everybody else about the condition of the country on the subject of reform for a great many years. He has been especially patronizing to President Cleveland, whom he has regarded as the patron saint of all civil service reformers. Now he has a grievance against that great and good man, and even goes so far as to accuse him of the betrayal of reform. He charges that Josiah Quincy has been permitted to prostitute the state department and the consular service for the spoils that is in them, while at the same time parading himself before the public as a good deal of a reformer himself. The Van Alen incident caps the climax of MacVeagh's woes and he feels like retiring to the desert and shedding tears sufficient to irrigate the soil and cause it to blossom as the rose. The path of the reformer who puts his trust in Democrats is certainly full of pitfalls and thorns.

Much In Little.

Senator Daniels in debate this week said: "I believe a majority of those who agree with me are instantly ready to submit the matter of silver-purchase repeal to a majority of Democrats who had been sent to the senate charged with responsibility." This statement on its face may seem to be a small and trivial thing, but there is a great deal in it. It is a challenge to the repeal Democratic senators to go into a Democratic caucus and there by vote of a majority determine whether the Democrats shall be solidly for or against the repeal of the silver-purchase law. A few days ago Senator Sherman told the Democrats they were in a majority and were responsible, and that they ought to get together and do something, or abdicate and let the Republicans try their hand. This reminder probably created in the mind of Senator Daniels the notion that a Democratic caucus might be a good thing for the anti-repealers; and so it would, as a majority of the Democrats are opposed to repeal, and they would control the caucus and carry the repeal Democrats with them by a caucus vote thus committing the entire Democratic vote in the senate against the pending bill. These are the facts which go to show the party in power in its true light. The enormous Republican vote in favor of repeal has hidden the fact that in spite of the declarations against the silver law in the Democratic platform, a majority of the Democrats are opposed to the repeal of the silver-purchase law unless they can substitute free coinage of silver for it.

Smith's Pension Policy Denounced

A Sensation was sprung at the Union Veterans' Convention, Department of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, in session at Springfield, Ohio, the other day, by the resolutions of a committee reporting that, as many pensioners had been suspended, it condemns such action as illegal and unwise and asks congressmen in the three states named to have suspended soldiers placed on the rolls at once. The resolution concluded by condemning the appointment of ex-Confederates to positions in the pension bureau as unwise and unpatriotic and an insult to every Union soldier.

In the discussion that followed there was practically but one opinion, and that was in favor of the resolution, which was unanimously adopted. A large number of the members of the union are Democrats.

Respectfully Declined.

Last week Judge F. M. Wright received an official envelope addressed to "Francis M. THIN SHEETS OF IRON.

Some Recently Rolled Run 4,800 to an Inch.

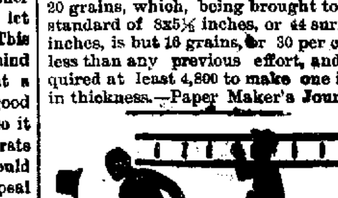

Among the novelties introduced on the Continent lately are visiting cards made of thin sheets of iron, a revival of the exhibits made at the first Universal exhibition, held in London in 1851. The French and Spanish journals have been lately treating this matter of fine rolling of sheets of iron as a novelty, but, in truth, the affair resulted in a competition between American and English metallurgists arising out of the exhibit of a specimen of iron paper, if it may be so termed, made in 1851 by an American firm. A lively competition in iron-rolling then ensued among British manufacturers as to the thinness to which steel could be rolled cold. Mr. Gillott rolled sheets the average thickness of which was the 1,800th part of an inch. In other words, 1,800 sheets piled upon each other would collectively measure an inch in thickness, while the thinnest tissue paper to be purchased in the stationers' shops, or cigarette paper, measured the 1,200th part of an inch.

These very thin iron sheets are perfectly smooth and easy to write on, although porous when held up to a good light. It may not be out of place, considering the great interest that is taken by those connected with that great branch of industry, the iron trade, to give a few curious particulars as to the extent iron can be welded, and the thin sheets that can be rolled out. Brother Jonathan little thought what a hubbub would be created in the old country forty-two years ago, when from Pittsburgh he sent that wonderful letter, written on a sheet of iron, which took no less than one thousand sheets to make one inch in thickness, the dimensions being eight inches by five and one-half inches, or a surface of forty-four inches and weighing sixty-nine grains. The fact had no sooner made its appearance in print than Britain's sons began to work, and soon we heard that a sheet containing the same number of surface inches, but weighing only forty-six grains, had been made at the Marshfield iron works, Llanelly, Carmarthenshire, being exactly one-third less in weight.

But soon the Welsh leek had to give way to the rose of England, for Staffordshire was anxious to take its wonted lead. The Hope Iron Works succeeded in making a sheet of 11 surface inches, weighing but 89 grains, which, reduced to the American and Welsh standard of 44 inches, gives about 33 grains; Messrs. R. Williams & Co., 69 inches 49 grains; reduced to the same standard, about 31 grains. For a time Staffordshire wore the belt, but Wales became very restless and anxious for the honor of St. David, so further attempts were made. Marshfield came again into the field. They succeeded in making one sheet 8x5½ inches, or a surface of 44 inches, of the astounding weight of 23¾ grains only, which required no less than 3,585 sheets to make 1 inch in thickness; another sheet 8x6 inches, or 48 surface inches, weighed 25 grains, but brought to the standard of 44 inches, gives but 23 grains, and requires 2,950 sheets to make 1 inch in thickness. The Pontardawe Tin Works next came into the field with a sheet 14¾x7 6-16, or a surface of 115x17 inches, weighing 60 grains; but being reduced to 44 inches is 24½ grains, a trifle heavier than the Marshfield, but Pontardawe claims 3,799 sheets to make 1 inch in thickness.

We now come to the climax. The mill manager of Messrs. W. Hallam & Co., of the Upper Forest Tin works, near Swansea, succeeded in making a sheet of the finest appearance and thinness that has ever yet been seen by mortal eye. The iron from which the sheet was rolled was made on the premises. It was worked in a finery with charcoal and the usual blast; afterward taken to the hammer, to be formed into a regular flat bottom; from thence conveyed to the balling furnace, and when sufficiently heated taken up to the rolls, lengthened and cut by shears into proper lengths, piled up, and transferred to the balling furnace again; when heated it was passed through the rolls, back again into the balling furnace, and when duly brought to the proper pitch was taken to the rolls and made into a thorough good bar.

Such is the history in connection with the forge department. It was then taken to the mills and rolled till it was supposed to be thinner than 22 grains, afterward passed through the cold mills to give it the necessary polish, and it stands on record as the thinnest sheet of iron ever rolled. The sheet in question was 10x5½ inches, or 55 inches in surface, and weighed but 20 grains, which, being brought to the standard of 8x5½ inches, or 44 surface inches, is but 16 grains, or 30 per cent. less than any previous effort, and required at least 4,800 to make one inch in thickness.—Paper Maker's Journal.

MAKES ITSELF FELT—the great, griping, old-fashioned pill. Not only when you take it, but unpleasant, from first to last, and it only does a little temporary good.

The things to take its place are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One of these at a dose will regulate the whole system perfectly. They're tiny, sugar-coated granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds. They act in Nature's own way. No reaction afterward. Their help lasts and they do permanent good. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're the cheapest, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction or money is returned. Nothing can be "just as good."

WE could not improve the quality if paid double the price. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the best Salve that experience can produce, or that money can buy. C. H. Dawson.

—TWO bronze tablets were lately shipped from New York to ornament the new granite tomb of Gen. Francis Marion, the "Swamp Fox." The revolutionary hero was buried at his Belle Isle plantation on the Santee river, South Carolina, about fifty miles north of Charleston, and a simple brick tomb, covered with a slab of marble, marked the spot. Some years ago a tree fell across the tomb and disfigured it. The state legislature at its last session appropriated money to buy a new tombstone.

—A singular instance of second sight is related of an old man who reached his ninetieth birthday some time ago. The old man lives in Hardin county, Texas, and has not been able to read without the aid of glasses for the last fifteen years. His sight has always been feeble. Recently the old man stated to his grandchildren that he could see as plainly as when a boy. To verify the statement he called for a copy of a weekly paper and read an editorial. Hundreds of people have journeyed from all sections of the county to see what is regarded as a modern miracle.

—Shawmut, a peninsula with three hills, which caused it to be called "Trimountain, on which Boston was built, was discovered by the Pilgrims in 1621. A boat with ten men was sent to explore Massachusetts Bay. Towards the south they saw the blue hills from which the Indian name Massachusetts was derived. Two or three rivers entered the bay, and peninsulas jutted into it; and so attractive were its shores that the Pilgrims regretted they had not seated themselves there. When Winthrop and a large colony came (1630) they landed at Salem, and some of them settled at Charlestown. Sickness prevailed among them. Observing a fine spring of water on Shawmut, and believing its high ground to be more healthy than at Charlestown, Winthrop settled there and founded Boston.

THE EDNA GOLD MINE.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

Information comes from Denver, Col., to the effect that recently Manager Nagely and Secretary Dey and the other officials of the Edna Gold mine property, in the Sugar Loaf District, Boulder county, have made an important discovery. The valuable vein in the mine has been located on the hillside where a tunnel can be run to the vein striking it 150 to 175 feet below the main shaft. There is a big saving, and nearly all of the force is now at work on the tunnel. Work is still going ahead on the main shaft. Manager Nagely is at the mine all the time. Everything looks bright. October 1 shares in 100 blocks were advanced to 25 cents each; for cash shares in 1000 blocks can be had for a short time at 10 cents. Money is needed for rapid development. The gold ore now being taken out of the shaft is worth $60 a ton. Adjoining properties are shipping good ore every day. C. E. Dey, secretary; J. J. H. Young, Decatur agent. dtf.

A CHICAGO electric light firm is this week trying to find Bloomington with a search light, just to make a test of long distance from Chicago. The time is from 8 to 9:30 p. m. There is no need trying to locate our city with a search light. Decatur is on the map and will be in the push always, particularly in the fight for the state fair in January.

GEORGE BARRY, of Dawson, Sangamon county, accidentally tipped over a statue of Diana in the Austrian building in the World's Fair. It was injured and in its fall broke the nose off a bust figure of Sarah Bernhardt. The superintendent of the exhibit asked Barry to pay $30 for the damage. He did not have the money and was given a ride in a patrol wagon to the service building. The officer of the day decided that the case was one for the civil courts to pass upon.

WOUND UP AT MIDNIGHT.

Close of The Pythian Grand Lodge Meeting—Gone Home.

Synopsis of the Closing Legislation—Warm Discussion on the German Question.

The 24th annual grand lodge meeting of the Illinois Knights of Pythias closed at midnight too late for the Chicago representatives to catch one of the Wabash trains for home. The last thing done was the installation of the officers elect, and now Charles Burgoyne is fully clothed with the duties, responsibilities and honors of Grand Chancellor. He will receive $2,000 for his year's work.

During the afternoon meeting there was a warm discussion over the recommendation of the ritual committee to the effect that the new ritual be printed in German as well as English. Representative W. D. Kennedy, of Chicago, was the leader in opposition to the recommendation to the supreme lodge. He characterized such a course as un-American. Representative Frazelle and others seconded Kennedy's position. There was a cyclone of speeches in favor of the adoption of the report. W. A. Schmitt, of Quincy, supreme representative, was the leader. He claimed that the Germans had a right to use the language of their native country if they wanted to, and declared that if there was aught in the teachings of Pythianism which made men better, then the principles of this order should be made known everywhere. It should be printed in every language that the Bible is printed in; it should be over all the earth. Peter Noer, Otto Hulsman, J. G. Wright, H. Rediger, Herman Biegler and Representative McNamara supported Schmitt. The report of the committee was finally adopted with but few dissenting voices.

Other legislation covered various points of interest to members of the order. Ten per cent of lodge money cannot be appropriated for installation services; by-laws of lodges must be submitted to the grand chancellor for approval; as in the past one black ball will reject an applicant for membership; the necessary expenses of a lodge, care of the sick and distressed, relief of the widow and orphans and succoring needy brethren and burying the dead are declared preferred claims on the funds of a lodge. Furnishing a hall, providing a library, etc., are considered as investments, and as such are proper; Albert Woodruff, of Sullivan Lodge, restored to membership; that the per capita tax of 25 cents per term be retained for the Pythian Home fund, and that surplus funds beyond $1,000 be loaned, that the proposition to increase the salary of Grand K. of R. & S. from $2,000 to $2,500 be laid over until next meeting.

It was voted to place $500 in the hands of the Grand Chancellor for the relief of Knights of Pythias yellow fever sufferers at Brunswick, Georgia, and vicinity.

It was after 12 o'clock when the gavel fell declaring the meeting adjourned.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.

At Chevalier Bayard Lodge room in Library Block, the Fern Leaf Temple, Pythian Sisters, held a memorable meeting. They conferred the degree upon 44 candidates as follows: State's Attorney Mills and wife, A. J. Horine and wife, John Naylor and wife, Miss Mattie Foster, Miss Maria Buckingham, Mrs. A. G. Bower, A. E. Christer, Henry B. Pierce, G. B. Latch, Charles W. Baldwin, G. W. St. John, O. McMahan, Mrs. A. R. Lane, J. H. Culver, L. H. Martin and wife, John Kemp, J. L. Morgan, J. L. Blackney, R. J. McIlvaine, W. A. Hull, G. Bower, J. H. Cooper, Starr Cool, Andrew Olsson, A. S. Patterson, E. W. Paul, G. W. Evans, G. L. Taylor, C. H. Cushing, T. L. McCoy, L. L. Perdue, Ed. E. Davis, F. L. Pasteenough, Frank Reed, I McIntyre, E. T. Gilbert and others. After the lodge work speeches were made by Alderman Baldwin, A. T. Gilbert, Messrs. Gardner, Holstander, Morgan and C. H. Cushing, of Chicago. A pleasing feature of the evening was the musical entertainment given by Prof. and Mrs. W. L. Smith. A banquet was served at Kreb's restaurant after the temple meeting. It was an elegant feast.

THINK WELL OF DECATUR.

In conversation with a number of the grand lodge officers and the representatives, the REPUBLICAN reporter was informed that no city has excelled Decatur in extending courtesies at any former meeting of the grand lodge—Decatur they found to be a beautiful place, with ample accommodations at reasonable rates. They were particularly pleased with the beautiful Grand Opera House, the transportation facilities and the fine weather; and unstinted praise was bestowed upon the members of the various local committees who had labored unceasingly and successfully for the reception and entertainment of the visitors.

"The Knickerbockers."

In the first act of "The Knickerbockers," which is to be seen here at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday evening, presented by Barnabee, Karl and MacDonald's company, there is an encounter between Miles Bradford, a Puritan sea captain, and Antony Van Corlear, the trumpeter of New Amsterdam. Miles is willing enough to fight, but Antony, who has a due regard for his social importance, replies thus:

If you and I should meet
With blood as a possible sequel,
'Twould not be fair, I do declare,
For you're very fat from my equal.
In creatures such as you
Nature's prodigal rather than frugal,
But on this earth there's a desperate drouth
Of men who can blow the bugle.

And this argument being unanswerable there is no fight, of course.

ALL the talk in the world will not convince you so quickly as one trial of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for scalds, burns, bruises, skin affection and piles. C. H. Dawson.

CANNOT COME BACK.

Lung Yon's Desire to Visit China Checked by the Law.

Lung Yon is the proprietor of the Chinese Laundry on South Main street, near the Imboden Bros. meat market. He is also a member of the Presbyterian Sunday school, and every Sabbath he is at the church dressed in his best, paying strict attention to the exercises. Recently he spoke to Dr. Penhallegon, the pastor, about paying a visit to his old home in China. He did not know whether or not he could return to America if he left the country. To settle the question Dr. Penhallegon wrote to the department at Washington and here is the reply:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.

Rev. W. H. Penhallegon, Decatur, Ill.:

SIR—Replying to the inquiries contained in your letter of the 13th inst., I have to inform you that the Chinese Exclusion laws prohibit the landing of Chinese laborers in this country, although they may have previously resided here. This department holds that laundrymen are laborers, and it follows, therefore, that if the person to whom you refer, and who you state owns and operates a laundry in Decatur should leave the United States, he cannot lawfully re-enter the country. Respectfully yours,

C. S. HAMLIN, Acting Secretary.

Lung Yon will remain in America, doing business at the same old stand. He does not care to spend his days in China, working for a mere pittance.

SALVATIONISTS WED.

A Ceremony of Soldiers in Lincoln Last Evening.

Last evening at the Salvation Army barracks in Lincoln, an event transpired which has awakened unusual interest all over Central Illinois. On that occasion, Miss Grace Wilson, a young lady who was reared in Lincoln, became the bride of Capt. Bradley, of Belvidere, and will hereafter assist him in his chosen work. The ceremony was performed by Staff Capt. Addie, divisional officer, assisted by several captains and soldiers from Decatur, Bloomington, Peoria, Springfield, Mason City and other cities were in attendance. It was the leading event in army life that has ever transpired in Central Illinois, and a large attendance of citizens were present. All of the ministers of Lincoln were present.

Miss Wilson, has only recently returned from Chicago, where she was in the army training school for a year or more, fitting herself for a life of consecration to the Lord.

Coming Monday Night.

"Tell a lie; tell a good 'un, and stick to it." Thus reads what is known as the Eleventh Commandment in a prominent institution of learning in England. That Gus Heege, the comedian and author of "Yon Yonson," is a graduate of this school might easily be surmised from the appended tale recently related by Heege to a Boston newspaper scribe: The guileless but ambitious young man had gleaned from the waggish comedian that no less than eight successful plays had emanated from his fertile imagination, and that play-making was but a pleasant pastime. "What, may I ask, is the system employed by a writer of plays?" interrogated the reporter. "Well," said Heege, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "I simply eat a big lobster salad and drink two glasses of milk at midnight. Thus I am sure to pass the remainder of the night in dreaming. I awake at intervals, get up and make notes of the meanderings of my brain during my last snooze, and in the morning I find I have material for an excellent play. Remember, however, nothing will produce the required result except lobster salad. I tried some Welsh rarebit one night and the next morning I was disgusted to learn that I had written a novel." Mr. Heege in Yon Yonson will be the attraction at the Opera House Monday evening, Oct. 23.

State Bankers Association.

There is a movement on foot to consolidate the Illinois State Bankers' association and the Private Bankers' association at the meeting of the former in Decatur Nov. 14, 1893. The Chicago Journal has this to say about it.

Members of the Illinois State Bankers' association held no session at the Sherman House this morning. The committee appointed yesterday to recommend some action regarding amalgamation with the Private Bankers' association met at the Union National Bank. The suggestion for amalgamation of the association was made by J. J. P. Odell. He thought that as objects and interests were mutual and identical, the two associations could work to advantage together under a single organization. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to invite the Private Bankers' association to attend in a body the convention of the State society to be held at Decatur November 14. The question of joint organization will be decided then.

Knights of Pythias at a Low Estimate Spent $15,000 in Decatur.

Now that the K. P. convention is over merchants and others are figuring on the financial features of the conclave, and estimates are being made on what the visitors left in the city. There were more than 600 Knights of Pythias in the city during the three days of the session. Putting the number at 600, it is claimed that the the average expenditure for each man in Decatur was not less than $25, which would bring the total up $15,000. This does not include the hall expenses. And then the 100 or more ladies attending the grand temple meeting left $100 or more.

The hotels were crowded. The St. Nicholas had all of the rooms full and at the tables there were 600 people a day. At the Arcade Hotel the rooms were crowded and cots were placed in the halls. The same was the record at the Hotel Brunswick, while the smaller hotels had all the people they could handle.

A Decatur lodge man was asked to-day how much money he usually spent attending grand lodge conclaves. He is not an extravagant man. He answered: "I usually put $50 in my pocket, and when I get home I seldom have a cent left."

Illinois Presbyterian Synod.

The Presbyterian synod of Illinois concluded its annual session at Peoria last night. The morning session was taken up with reports and the entire afternoon was devoted to hearing the case of the Rev. I. H. Leish against the Mattoon presbytery. Mr. Leish was dropped from the LaCrosse presbytery for unchristian character and was afterward admitted to the Mattoon presbytery and stationed at Robinson. When the Mattoon presbytery learned of his dismissal from LaCrosse they dropped him. He brought the case before the synod. The hearing of evidence and arguments consumed several hours. By a vote of 48 to 8 Mr. Leish was sustained and reinstated. The work of the woman's foreign and home missions was reported to the synod, and the session ended with addresses by the Rev. J. F. Garvin, missionary to Chile, and Mrs. John Newton, missionary to India.

Put on More Light, Please.

Have you noticed the feeble attempt to illuminate the dials of the clock in the court house tower? The electric light was turned on last night but the dinkey illumination was so light that the time o' night could not be discovered more than 400 feet distant. Why not hang an arc light in front of the dials or, better still, make the dials of glass and put the lights on the inside? Even "Thin Space," the poet, is inclined to laugh at the spectacle. He sings—

Oh, say! can you see by the small incandescent
The hours of the night by the court house town clock?
Or, do you not find it at least just as pleasant
To patiently wait for the hammer to knock?

The man with the telescope down on the corner
Points to the glimmer and says it is Mars'
'Tisn't hard to deceive, for this court house adorner
Looks, to the naked eye, like a small star.

Preferred Death to Disgrace.

Charles D. Poe, who has been out of work for some time, committed suicide through shame at his arrest for petit larceny last night at Pueblo, Col. He was a book-keeper, but took a job at sawing wood in order to buy bread for his wife and six children. After being paid he stole the saw, and was arrested with the article in his possession. While the policeman was pulling the patrol alarm he drew a pocketknife and cut his throat.

Is Dr. Graves Dead?

There is a story out to the effect that Dr. Graves, who was convicted of poisoning Mrs. Barnaby and is said to have committed suicide in the jail at Denver, recently, is not dead and that the coffin sent east supposed to contain the body of Dr. Graves did not contain his body but instead it contained a log of wood. The rumor goes on to say that these facts were discovered by opening the coffin in the east on the day of the burial.

A Reception.

Last evening the Congregational church was filled by the members and friends, the occasion being a reception to them by the Christian Endeavor society. The officers and chairman of the various committees served as the formal receivers, and before the members got away they were served to cocoa, tea and wafers and presented with a souvenir of the pleasant occasion.

A Success.

The Volunteer Firemen Association's tournament yesterday at the park was a grand success, both financially and in the excellent races. The success of the occasion was due largely to the efforts of the untiring secretary, J. M. Ehrman, and his track assistants—Charles Morgan on foot-racing and bicycle-riding, and Sam Goddelt on hook and ladder contests.

Tax Talk.

State Auditor Gore has made a report to County Clerk Hardy to the effect that the equalized assessed valuation of all railroad property in Macon county is $592,951, and that only two capital stock companies were assessed, as follows: City Electric Street Railway company, $95,000; Decatur Gas and Electric Light Co., $31,874.

ANOTHER HORROR.

A Terrible Wreck on the Grand Trunk This Morning.

MANY PEOPLE KILLED IN MICHIGAN.

Thirty Bodies Have Been Recovered and Many More Burned in the Wreck.

[SPECIAL TO THE REPUBLICAN]

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A terrible head-end collision of excursion trains occurred near Nichols, Mich., at 4:30 o'clock this morning. A large number of people were killed and many were wounded. Thirty bodies had been taken out of the wreck at 10 a. m., and only two could be identified, as the wreck took fire and burned those caught in it.

LATER.

[SPECIAL TO THE REPUBLICAN]

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Head-end collision on the Grand Trunk road at Nichols, near Battle Creek, Mich., early this morning, between passenger trains Nos. 6 and 9. The east-bound train was a Raymond and Whitcomb special and the west-bound a regular train, all loaded with World's Fair passengers. Several are burned. Reported that 25 dead bodies have been taken out all terribly burned, unrecognizable. It is believed that as many more victims are still in the wreck, fully 40 others severely if not fatally injured. The passengers killed were all on west-bound trains. The collision is said to have been caused by the conductor and engineer of the east-bound train disobeying orders by not stopping at Nichols for the other train.

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED

In a Collision on the Illinois Central Near Kankakee.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Oct. 20.—Another horrible wreck occurred on the Illinois Central at Otto Junction, four miles south of this city, about midnight, in which, it is reported, seven persons were killed and about as many badly injured. The fast mail, north-bound, crashed into the Pontiac district freight as the latter was rounding the "Y" from the Kankakee & Southwestern railroad, preparatory to coming to this city on the main line of the Illinois Central road.

The location of the wreck is a desolate stretch of prairie by night. There is nothing at the junction but the railroad station, and the night operator and a switchman are all that are usually there. A relief train carrying most of the physicians in this city and a large wrecking crew were dispatched to the wreck at about 1:30 a. m. The wreck was probably caused by a misplaced switch, which allowed the fast train to run on to the wrong track.

The officials of the Central at this point will not give any information as to the extent of the wreck, but are doing all in their power to relieve the injured and get the road open for travel. Division Superintendent Harahan is in charge of the relief and wreckers.

A PLUCKY OPERATOR.

Robbed of $15 in Cash He Finally Got the Best of the Thieves.

At about midnight Monday night the Burlington night operator, S. R. Thomason, at Lathrop, Mo., heard a voice behind him in his office, and upon turning looked down the muzzles of two revolvers held by two masked men. He was told to throw up his hands, which he promptly did, and while one of them covered him with a revolver the other rifled his pockets of $15 and a watch. They then told him to open the safe. He replied that the day man had the key, but that he thought he could open it with a hatchet. They told him to get a hatchet and he was unable to find one, but thought he could do it with a poker, which he picked up. He then walked to the safe and began hammering it with the poker. As he was naturally unable to effect much with this weapon the men began to get impatient, and became careless and off their guard.

Mr. Thomason took this opportunity, accidentally, to strike the wrist of one of them with the poker, disabling it so that the revolver dropped. A second blow knocked him insensible. He then quickly turned on the other man, before he had a chance or the presence of mind to shoot, and managed to knock his revolver out of his hand, but the man was too strong for him, and got away, after a struggle of about ten minutes, during which he nearly bit off one of Mr. Thomason's fingers. In the meantime the other man had come to his senses and managed to get out of the window. An alarm was immediately given, and both men were captured and the money and watch recovered.

The man who was hit in the head will probably die from the effects of the blow. He is well known to the police, while the other man seems to have been a novice. The management of the Burlington thinks this an exhibition of pluck and nerve which has not often been excelled.

ON TRIAL AT LAST.

Grant Atterberry Charged with the Murder of His Father.

The Atterberry murder case was called yesterday in the Shelby circuit court at Shelbyville, and Grant Atterberry was placed on trial for his life, charged with the crime of murder. In November, 1891, David Atterberry, a wealthy farmer of Penn township, aged 62 years, was shot to death from his wagon on the public highway while on his way home from Moawequa. Circumstantial evidence pointed strongly at Grant and Edward, sons of the murdered man, and they were arrested, given a preliminary hearing, and sent to jail. They were promptly indicted by the grand jury, but upon one pretext or another the case has been continued to the present time. Meanwhile Edward became a raving maniac, and for some months has been an inmate of the Kankakee hospital. Grant is left to stand trial alone, and by those who know the men he is believed to be most culpable in the matter, his brother being considered only an accessory to the crime. The fact that Atterberry, the elder, contemplated marriage with Mrs. Denton, a young widow in the neighborhood, is given as the motive prompting the deed. More than 100 witnesses are there to testify in the case. Prosecuting Attorney Wallace and Judge Thornton appear for the State, while H. J. Hamlin, W. C. Kelly, and E. A. Richardson are for the defense. Great difficulty is being experienced in obtaining a jury.

Bad Fire at Springfield.

The large livery barn and boarding stable of John W. Crafton at Springfield was destroyed by fire yesterday. The flames communicated to the First Presbyterian church adjoining and damaged it to the extent of $5,000, which is covered by insurance. The main body of the church was not seriously damaged, except by water, but the annex recently constructed will be almost a total loss. Two costly memorial windows were ruined. All the horses in Crafton's stable, twenty-five in number, were rescued, but forty-five buggies, surreys and carriages were destroyed, together with 3,000 bushels of oats and 100 tons of hay. Undertaker Williams lost four hearses valued at $5,000; uninsured. The loss on the building is $12,000; insurance $3,000; loss on contents $10,000; insurance $3,000.

Witnesses at a Trial.

The trial of Edward Wood on a charge of bigamy will come up in the circuit court at Bloomington. County Clerk Geo. P. Hardy and the Very Rev. P. J. Mackin, of Decatur, will be in attendance as witnesses. The complainant is the alleged legal wife of Wood, whose maiden name was Katie Doyle. The records show that Wood and Miss Doyle were married by Father Mackin at the Catholic church in Decatur May 10, 1881. There were two witnesses to the marriage. The couple lived together for several years, when Wood went away. Last summer the deserted wife who has three children found her husband living near Bloomington with another woman, whom he insists is his lawful wife. The trial will bring out all the facts in the complicated case.

Caught by Red Paint.

Here comes a man from South Dakota with a brand new cause for the poverty of the thriftless Dakota farmer, which is nothing more nor less than a craze for high-priced harvesting machinery, the purchasing of a gaudy colored thrashing machine, or header or some other needless implement and going in debt for it. This man thinks it would be a kindness if the legislature would take hold of the matter and pass a law compelling every implement manufacturer to paint his machines a dirty black. If such a law was passed and enforced, the implement manufacturers would starve to death in South Dakota and farmers would be 100 per cent. better off.

Took Morphine.

Shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon J. W. Floyd was found in his room at the Sherman House, Quincy, in a dying condition. A physician was summoned, when it was discovered that he had taken morphine, from which he died an hour later. The deceased was about 60 years of age, a ship carpenter by trade, and came here from Kansas city, where he has a family. He was employed here by the Quincy Marine Ways, and was regarded as a sober, steady man. No cause was assigned for the act.

Wheat is still strong and looks firm. Washington news continues the factor in wheat, influencing shorts to get covered up and keeps the price firm.

Corn was strong at about the middle of the session, but later showed some inclination toward weakness. Quite a good many longs realizing put the market lower later in the day.

Oats were fairly active, and while there was no bullish news of consequence, prices advanced ⅜ to ½c in sympathy with other grain. Oats were weaker later in the day with corn.
